

The Simple Music Newsletter, Personal Information and Matters of Privacy

Some of you may know that there is a great deal of change and growth occurring within the Simple Music organization. 2008 marked the 10-year Anniversary of Simple Music, and never before have we been presented with so many opportunities to further our vision and create a broader, high-profile public awareness of our program and what it has to contribute.

Starting from a single studio location in Sacramento, and now operating as an international, music-education institution with more than 300 teaching locations around the world, we are constantly discovering the importance of communication, and the critical need for us to have accurate information.

Your Simple Music teacher plays an important role in the broader scheme of things, and as such, part of our Teacher Licensing asks that basic information (that which is provided on our standard Enrollment Form), be entered into our records as a means of Student Registration.

This information is critical in ensuring the ongoing functionality of Simple Music, and helps us to administer the organization, manage the Simple Music teacher body, understand trends, support our Simple Music students and keep everybody informed and up-to-date with what's happening within Simple Music and music education as a whole.

We do communicate regularly (via email and our website), with our teachers and our student body. However, it is essential to know that we do not sell, share nor disclose personal, private and confidential information to unrelated third parties. All information collected is securely stored on systems that use state-of-the-art privacy protection methods.

We look forward to expanding the services that we provide to all, and keeping you up to date with enjoyable and educational information.

Kind regards,

Neil Moore
